

Three Key Takeaways on Evaluating Effort Reporting in the Post Uniform Guidance Era

The OMB's Uniform Guidance (UG) grants greater flexibility to recipients for supporting labor charges on federal awards and places significant emphasis on institutional policies and internal controls.

Here's how to evaluate your management of effort reporting:

REVIEW

Inspect your current effort reporting practices to identify any areas of internal weakness and investigate opportunities for administrative efficiencies.

SUPPORT

Develop systems and policies to support a strong control structure and to reduce administrative burden.

EXAMINE

Critically examine guidance from FDP pilot studies, federal audits and national efforts for reform before changing your effort reporting methods.
